SHN-Research Grant – Invitation to apply for the 2022 subsidy

Dear Colleagues

As announced at the General Assembly of 24 June 2022, the Swiss Haemophilia Network (SHN) invites you again to apply for the 2022 SHN-Research Grant.

The SHN supports research projects on bleeding disorders performed in Switzerland. Eligible candidates are physicians, allied health professionals (nurses, physiotherapist), or biologists working in a Swiss institution on a clinical or translational research project dealing with inherited bleeding disorders.

The SHN-Research Grant is endowed with maximal CHF 20'000 and can be awarded to a single person or, in case of a collaborative project, to more individuals from different institutions.

Only one application per institution is allowed.

Applications have to be written in English and must contain following information:

1. An accompanying letter
2. A brief description of the research project in form of an abstract containing: Background, Aim, Methods, Expected results (Font size 12, double spaced, max. 1 A4 page)
3. A detailed description of the research project containing: Background, Research context and particular question, Specific aims, Methods, Preliminary results, Expected results, Relevance of expected results (Font size 12, double spaced, max. 20 A4 pages, including references, tables and figures)
4. Approval by ethical committee (if available)
5. The budget of the research project (Max. 2 A4 pages)
6. Curriculum vitae and publication list of the applicant
7. A letter of support from the Head of the institution where the project will take place

The application deadline is Monday 10 October 2022, 23h59 CET.

All required documents have to be placed, in the above-mentioned order, in a single PDF file named "SHN-Research-Grant_2022_NAME OF THE CANDIDATE" and sent by e-mail to lorenzo.alberio@chuv.ch

The SHN board will evaluate all submitted grant applications. External referees may be asked to review certain applications in addition.

The SHN board will award the grant; this decision is final and there is no right of appeal.

The winner of the SHN-Research Grant will be awarded during the SOHC 2022, which will take place in Basel from 16 to 18 November 2022 (<https://www.sohc.ch/en/>).

Follow-up reports on the funded projects will be presented during the subsequent SHN General Assemblies until completion of the research plan.

The SHN support has to be acknowledged in every publication derived from the funded project.

We look forward to your applications!

Kind regards
